

UNDP & REDD Implementation

Tim Clairs & Charles McNeill, UNDP
16 March, 2008
Berlin

Initial Points of Entry

Socio-economic implications
of REDD

Financing links

FCPF

- Poverty Environment Partnership (PEP)
- Bali side-event
- Principles
- Conclusions for UNFCCC
14

Initial Points of Entry

Socio-economic implications
of REDD

Financing links

FCPF

- Biodiversity co-benefits
- Existing UNDP portfolio

Initial Points of Entry

Socio-economic implications
of REDD

Financing links

FCPF

- International Organizations consultation
- Co-benefits concept

Risk Management Challenge

- UNDP recognizes the need to demonstrate how REDD risks can be managed
- Suggests the need for integrated approaches

REDD Risks

Measurable

Real

Lasting

Reliable

Achievable

- Data uncertainty
- Land cover classification
- Land cover change
- Carbon stocks
- Accounting capacity

REDD Risks

Measurable

Real

Lasting

Reliable

Achievable

- Reference scenario
- Verifiable

REDD Risks

Measurable

Real

Lasting

Reliable

Achievable

- Non-permanence
- Payment structures

REDD Risks

Measurable

Real

Lasting

Reliable

Achievable

- Compensatory Transaction
- Complementarity with UNFCCC negotiations

REDD Risks

Measurable

Real

Lasting

Reliable

Achievable

- Deforestation drivers
- Opportunity costs
- Livelihoods
- Policy effectiveness
- Institutional/regulatory change

Risk Implications

- Risks likely to be borne by REDD countries
- Payment-on-delivery
- Are REDD countries in a position to take on additional development risks?

UNDP Approach

- Develop new risk management strategies
- Integrate REDD strategies into national development processes
- Build-on UNDP's work:
  - Transfer Payment structures
  - Fiscal Decentralization
  - Local Governance
  - Forest Conservation
  - Support UN to 'Deliver as One'

Next Steps

- Partnership with FAO & UNEP
- Collaboration with WB's FCPF
- Develop national REDD Joint Programmes
- Continue to consult closely with Coalition for Rainforest Nations